

POUT IT OUT LOUD

Our quest for an Angelina pout minus the agony of collagen injections goes on and on.

The newest pain-free option is called The Pulsar Pout and it uses intense pulsed light (IPL) technology – already widely used for rejuvenating the skin – to make lips fuller. The lips are zapped with a targeted wave of light that accelerates natural collagen production and leaves you looking poutier in a mere 10 minutes. Results last around three weeks with no risk of a trout pout and it costs £50 a go. Call 01433 659900 for your nearest salon.
